CRISP AND DRY WITH A CLEAN FINISH

We're talking about this morning's weather and your turn on the groomed snow, but it could be what you will be sipping on at the champagne bar tomorrow too! The Bureau is forecasting a high chance of snow showers this afternoon, so enjoy this morning while it's precip-free and take a peek at the radar for a sense of what's swirling up from the south! Looks like a good delivery of SNOW for the start of the week with Monday set to stay cold for flakes – bring it on!

SKI & SNOWBOARD CONDITIONS

After a fun night of Twilight sliding on Bourke Street under a supermoon the groomers have been out getting everything smooth and ready for your Sunday. The Koflers and Skyline Park are primed and the toboggan parks are also showing a fresh line of cord. The -3.7 overnight has everything set up nicely and the human-groomin' today will soften it into the afternoon (when the snow is set to arrive). Enjoy your Sunday slide and this beautiful mountain.

TOBOGGAN PARKS

WHAT'S ON AROUND THE RESORT

The spirit of Chumpy is racing SBX today

Mt Buller Race Club welcomes the return of snowboardcross racing on the course today with a FIS junior event showcasing the superb speed and talent in Australian SBX. With support from the Chumpy Pullin Foundation it is great to see this discipline evolve and grow with the next generation of riders coming through! Catch the action over near Skyline today.

Hindu ceremonial ski tomorrow!

Hindu community from Mill Park visit tomorrow as part of celebrations of their guru his Holiness Pramukh Swami Maharaj. There will be a celebration of love, peace and harmony at the top of Bourke Street at 11.30am. They seek help from a few skiers to carry flags, signs and a special golden statue for some photos and video. Similar celebrations have been held on the Great Barrier reef and Uluru - now Mt Buller. Please email jgarpatel2004@gmail.com if you would like to join.
